HIGH SCHOOLS WILL COMPETE

History of Past Meets — Ample Preparations Are Made — Schedule of the Events.

The Northwest Inter-High School Association has been organized six years. It organized while H. K. Taylor was president of the Normal. Since that time it has grown until this year thirty-five schools are represented in the various contests. The contests themselves are divided into two parts—literary; consisting of orations, declamations, and essays; athletic; consisting of track and field events.

The twenty-five schools taking part have entered 201 men, who are in 598 events. In the essay contest, fourteen schools have sent entries. In the oratorical, seventeen boys have been entered; and the declamation contest has twenty-two.

Ample preparation has been made for all those who may wish to come for the declamatory contest Friday night. The reception committee will meet all trains, and will direct those wishing lodgings to places which will be provided.

The preliminary contests for all the literary contests will be held on Friday at 2:00 o'clock. All contestants MUST report at room 302 in the Normal building to draw for position previous to this. All contestants must appear and give the whole selection in the preliminary. From the whole, five speakers are chosen for the final to be given Friday evening. Judges in the contest will make their estimate according to the schedule submitted by the corresponding secretary. The contestants will be judged on the following points: voice, enunciation, delivery, interpretation and memory.

The essays have been submitted and are in the hands of the judges, and their report will be given at the oratorical contest, at which time the literary prizes will be awarded.

Corresponding Secretary, H. P. Swinehart will preside at the literary program, and Frank C. Toton, principal of the St. Joseph Central High School, and president of the association will present the medals.

On Saturday morning at 9:30 there will be a conference of the Superintendents and principals of the district, President Richardson of the Normal presiding. Immediately fol-

The Indoor Track Meet.

"To the victor belongs the spoils." The silver loving cup offered in the indoor track meet on the evening of April 9, was won by Howard Leech, who finished with 33 points. The next to the best man, Ralph McClintock, finished with 26, 1-6.; Lee Scarlett third, with 21; Eugene Cummins fourth with 15 1-3; Fred Vandersloot fifth with 14, 2-3; Orlo Quinn sixth with 12, 5-6 and Halley Ford seventh with 10, 1-3; Reed Noblett and Earl Brittain each secured one point.

The cup was presented to Mr. Leech the next Monday morning by Lewis DeHart, a member of the firm of DeHart & Holmes, who gave the cup.

The cup was given in order to stimulate a greater interest in track work among the boys. DeHart & Holmes, jewelers, have decided to make the offering of a cup as a prize for an indoor track meet an annual event, as long as the boys continue to take any interest in it.

The points offered were, five for first place; three for second; and one for third. When a place was tied, the points for the places were divided. In case three tied for first the nine points were divided and no other points were awarded in the event.

The events and winners with the time that was made are as follows:

50-yard dash — First, Howard Leech, Halley Ford and Eugene Cummins, tie. Time, 6 sec.

75-yard dash—First, Howard Leech and Eugene Cummins, tie; third, Ralph McClintock and Orlo Quinn, tie. Time, 8 4-5 sec.

75-yard low hurdles—First, Howard Leech and Lee Scarlett, tie; third Orlo Quinn, Fred Vandersloot and Eugene Cummins, tie. Time 11 2-5 sec.

Running High Jump—First, Fred Vandersloot; second, Lee Scarlett; third Howard Leech. Height, 4 ft. 11 in.

Mile Run—First, Fred Vandersloot and Ralph McClintock, tie; third, Earl Brittain. Time, 5 min. 55 sec.

Standing High Jump—First, Howard Leech and Lee Scarlett, tie; third Halley Ford. Height, 4 ft. 2 in.

Value of Extemporaneous Speaking.

In actual life there arise innumerable occasions where it is absolutely necessary to speak on the instant and therefore the value of extemporaneous speaking is so great that it can scarcely be estimated. The definition of extemporaneous speaking has greatly changed since it was first used. At the present time this term is applied to that which is unprepared only in form. It is carefully prepared in thought and arrangement and only the choice of words is left to the inspiration of the moment. In other words it is usually neither to be read nor recited.

There are many advantages of extemporaneous speaking. (1) It meets the needs and demands of the times; (2) It cultivates those mental faculties which are necessary for effective speaking; (3) It promotes a sympathetic relation between the speaker and the audience; (4) It allows the speaker to adapt his address to the occasion; and (5) It permits a personal grapple with the audience.

Extemporaneous speaking meets the needs of the times for occasions are numerous when short, business-like speech is required in the place of the ancient formal oration. Today we must be able to answer arguments with which we are everywhere confronted and this cannot be done with the formal set speech. It is absolutely necessary that the lawyer, teacher, preacher, etc., in order to be a success and gain support of the people, constantly practice extemporaneous speaking.

Taking up, collectively, the other points of advantage of extemporaneous speaking, I would say first that it cultivates a memory for ideas rather than for words. One idea suggests another and thus the vitality of thought is increased. It teaches self-reliance, and alertness and makes one think while he is talking. Not only does it aid the speaker himself but it brings him and the audience nearer together. When it is seen that the speaker is not depending for his words on manuscript or memory, the audience instinctively want to help him along. Then and only then does his speech become a heart-to-heart talk. Again, facility in the adaptation of a speech to an occasion or audience is one of the greatest advantages of this kind of speech. It leaves the speaker free to recast the language of his address to meet the demands of the occasion or audience, while he may still retain his prepared line of thought. Lastly the

BASE BALL STARTS WITH A RUSH

Great "Pep" Displayed in Assembly — Wesleyans Come First—To Play Faculty Monday.

The baseball season started off with a jump Monday evening April 19. If the amount of "pep" which was created is conserved there will be enough to last throughout the season. There was an air of "What's going to happen next?" There had been a warning that Mr. Hanson was intending to "pull off" something or other. According to expectations he took charge and things began to happen. A little enthusiasm was aroused in singing "We want the game," but such uncommon noises were heard coming from behind the curtain of the stage, that curiosity almost got the better of school spirit. The curtain was raised and there sat the team all blossomed out in their baseball "duds." Everybody had a pleasant surprise as they saw Eugene Bird and Ed. Adams, whom we have been expecting, in their places among the boys of the team. The boys stood up and sang a song to the tune of "We want the game," the main burden of which seemed to be that there were some tickets to be sold.

Following this the first game of the season, Faculty vs. Team, was announced for Monday, April 19. Mr. Foster, captain of the Faculty Team was introduced as the chief speaker of the morning. It is probable that Mr. Foster's "Address to the Empire" will be recorded and substituted in place of Burk's "Conciliation," in the curriculum of our modern schools. It is indeed only once in a life time or perhaps even a little less frequently that a modern citizen is privileged to hear such a masterpiece of rhetoric and oratory as was this now famous address. Though the apparent brilliancy of this masterpiece may be somewhat enhanced from its recency, it is safe to predict that "official, perfunctory, faculty goats," to borrow the words of the orator, will henceforth have a model upon which to pattern their attempts. The features of Mr. Foster's style which were especially praised were the perfect ease with which he talked and the perfect adaptation of his style to the subject of his address.

Mr. Hanson took charge of the ticket distribution.

The Strength of School Spirit.

The baseball season is here and if you will go out to the baseball diamond of an evening you will see the baseball men hard at work under the directions of Coach Hanson. What are they working so hard for? Because of their loyalty to the school and their desire to make it well known among the other Normals and colleges of the state. We can depend upon them to do their part and do it well, so that we will be proud of them, as we are proud of the way our basket ball team did this winter

But we must do our part. This team will need all the support that ALL, not half, of the student body can give them. You cannot expect the team to go out and play against another school with as much vim and determination to win, without great encouragement from the school body. They can always play better whenever they feel the school spirit rising up behind them, urging them on to victory.

Whenever a game is played, let us every one attend that game and each do his part in making the air ring with our yells and school songs, and cheer when we are winning. But, above all let us "root" MORE when our boys are losing. When a game goes to the opposing team, let us say "We lost the score," but when we have done our best, we have been victorious.

Rooters, boys, girls, students, faculty, everybody, come out and boost for the team.

—H. T. R.

Friday night, April 9, G. H. Colbert gave a commencement address at McFall, Mo. There were nine graduates —seven girls and two boys. McFall has a three-year course in the High School. Several of the class are going elsewhere to complete the High School course.

Be A Booster.

The best way to move a thing along is to get behind and push, instead of getting in front and standing still and claiming you are neutral. The base ball season is here and it is up to the students of the Normal to WIN. All do not care to play, nor could not if they did care to, but each LIVE student has his part to do in helping to win, if it is nothing but "pig-tail" back of the bleachers. But if it is that, keep the game going.

We can help by showing our interest in the boys who do play and by not being afraid of giving them a good cheer once in a while (twice wouldn't hurt). If you do not want to boost, please get out of the way so some one else can.

Schumann-Heink at St. Joseph.

Many persons from Maryville attended the concert given by Mme. Schumann-Heink in the auditorium at St. Joseph last Monday night. A special train left after the concert, and arrived in Maryville about 1:00 a. m. She had a wonderful personality and power of interpretation, according to the reports of those who attended. One could read the meaning in her face if he could not understand the words. She sang in English, French, and German. Those who spoke the languages said she spoke them perfectly. Her English was very good, and every word of her songs could be understood.

The most of her songs were of child life, which she knew perfectly well how to portray, being the mother of eight children, every action and word of whom she had watched. Her voice probably did not have the charm of youth, but one felt that what she said she knew and understood.

Some of those who attended from the Normal were: Misses Beulah Brunner, Mildred Miller, Mary Hughes, Beatrix Winn, Minnie Donelson, Gertrude Adair, Messrs. E. C. Wells and H. B. Schuler.

Las Amigos.

A local chapter of the order of Las Amigos was organized on Saturday, April 18. The groups of students comprising the charter membership celebrated with a picnic in a grove two miles northeast of town. The ceremonies commenced at 2:30 o'clock, when the members assembled at the home of Edna Dietz.

The company then proceeded to the aforesaid grove. The afternoon was spent in gathering wild flowers, playing games, and in other enjoyments dear to the heart of the student. Toward evening a supper was served in picnic style, and by common consent formality was dispensed with. At a comparatively late hour the party returned home.

Those constituting the order were: Misses Villa Waller, Edna Dietz, Hazel Wallace, Mildred Garard, Fay and Effie Wilson, and Messrs. Harold Ramsay, Wm. Utter, Robert Burris, Lowell L. Livengood, Howard Leech, and Harry Clayton.

Value of Extemporaneous Speaking.

extemporaneous method permits a personal grapple with the audience. There is nothing to intervene between that direct, personal contact with the audience which is so necessary for the most effective public speaking. The speaker is looking without for his words and thought; he is reading the minds of his audience; he is conversing with them; he gets a response from the hearer's eyes, notes their agreement or disagreement, and proceeds accordingly. Thus he is able to give due elasticity to his subject. In short he wrestles with his audience and the speaker's power in this grapple will to a large degree, measure his success.

As I have said above, extemporaneous speaking does not mean unpreparedness on the subject. To be a good extemporaneous speaker one must have a fund of facts and ideas, a fund of language for the expression of his thoughts and the power to use this language accurately and readily. He is thus not only prepared for a special occasion but he has a general preparation for every occasion. This method of speaking demands that the speaker have a good general education. To do this he must form the habit of gathering speech material, reading the best authors and orators, practice in writing, the acquirement of a vocabulary, and constant practice in extemporaneous speaking.

It is absolutely necessary that the speaker gather his material from every source and that he see in everything an illustration which may be adapted to his subject. Practice in writing makes for orderliness, clearness, accuracy, terseness and finish. By reading widely we not only acquire a general fund of knowledge but we get the style of the best authors and speakers and acquire a large vocabulary which is, perhaps, the most essential element in any public address. Lastly we may have ever so great a general education, vocabulary, and knowledge of great orations, but these will avail us nothing unless we constantly practice the art of addressing an audience.

In regard to the special preparation of any certain subject I think it is well to read widely on that subject; prepare a final outline; silently think out the speech. These points are, perhaps, the mere machinery but they are very essential. We must, however, on the spur of the moment add much to them in order to make an effective speech. We should try to make every speech have unity, clearness, concreteness, proportion, movement, and try to make it produce only a few definite impressions, and it should be made a lesson for improvement in succeeding efforts.

Again I will say that it is almost impossible to estimate the value of extemporaneous speaking. One may often make or lose the confidence of an entire community by one good or bad speech. No prestige is given that person in a community if he is not able to put his thoughts into good English and deliver them to an audience.

"Japanese Girl."

"The Japanese Girl," is the title of an operetta presented by the Girls' Glee club of the Maryville High School, Friday evening, April 16. The play was considered especially attractive because of the picturesque Japanese costumes worn. The musical setting was said to be especially good. This play is another demonstration of the work which is being done by the departments of the Social Center. The orchestra, a department of the same organization, played several selections. Those taking prominent parts were Misses Amy Clark, Marie Hopper, Ruby Irwin, Kathleen Chittenden, Mary Woolridge, Vijune Colden and Doris Sayler.

The receipts are to be added to a fund for the purchase of a new piano for the school.

Death of Miss Eddy. (Member of Y. W. C. A.)

On April 9, 1915, our Association lost through death, one of its members, Miss Mabel Eddy of Mound City. She had been a member but a short time, but had taken active interest in the work.

We regret the loss of Miss Eddy, not only as an association member, but as a personal friend. Her cheery disposition was evident in her classes where, through daily contact she formed many friendships. She is missed by her teachers as well as her fellow students, as she was always conscientious in her school duties.

The Y. W. C. A. extends its sincere sympathy to her bereaved family and friends to whom the loss is a heavy one.

Miss Blanche Justice, a student the past winter, spent the second week of April visiting friends at the Normal and in Maryville.

A Progressive School.

A Farmers' Institute is the latest report coming from Pattonsburg. It was held April 16. The leading speaker was Luke Childers, who represented the Agricultural Extension Department of Missouri University. R. A. Kinnaird of the Normal, also spoke. "The meeting was enthusiastic and the school is very progressive," says Mr. Kinnaird.

Leonard M. Hosman, the Pattonsburg principal, is an old Normal student. He has put his school on the accredited list as a first class high school. Mr. Hosman is to enter the University this summer, preparatory to a four-year's course in Teachers' College. The Pattonsburg citizens, however, are trying to induce Mr. Hosman to remain with them for another year.

E. R. Adams, principal of McFall, Missouri, has returned to the Normal to resume his studies. Mr. Adams who has before proved his ability here on the base ball diamond, will play again this year.

The season tickets were soon disposed of, the societies, classes and faculty responding quickly. The opening game of the season will be with Missouri Wesleyan, and will be played on the Normal diamond, Friday afternoon, April 23.

It is to be regretted as we go to press that we are unable to give the results of the Faculty-Team game. A report from the bookmakers shows that the betting is 10 to 1 with the odds in favor of the faculty.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

A box luncheon will be served in the Normal library Saturday, April 24, to the track association by the Y. W. C. A. girls. This is one of the special means the association girls have each year of making money.

The annual May Morning Breakfast is to be held at the Normal on the morning of May 1. The girls are looking eagerly forward to this occasion, for they consider it as one of their pleasantest social features of the year.

The reports of the Missouri Student's Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Council held at Fayette will be given at the regular meeting Tuesday, April 20. The delegates who represented this school are Misses Vivian Seat, and Lula Attrill. Miss Karma Osburn will act as leader at this meeting, and special music will be provided by Miss Nola Mitchell.

The Missouri Student's Cabinet Council was held in Classic Hall,

Howard-Payne College, April 9, 10 and 11. This convention was composed of delegates from the various schools and colleges throughout the state, there being about fifty delegates present. Miss Ina Sherrebeck our district secretary, presided over the program.

The next convention is to be held in Central College for Women, Lexington, Missouri.

Joint Y's.

"The organization of the Sunday School" was the subject of Geo. H. Colbert's talk at the joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday morning, April 23. He said that the Sunday School was different from the day school in that it took in the whole period of a person's life from his birth to his death while the day school covered just the years from six to twenty.

He divided the Sunday School into the Cradle Roll, Beginners, Primary, Junior, Intermediate, Senior, Adult, and Home Departments.

Miss Fannie Hope talked on "How to Conduct a Modern Sunday School."

H. B. Schuler gave a solo at this meeting.

Other joint meetings of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are to be held this spring. The program for these meetings will be the continuation of the Sunday School problem.

Kindergartner's Surprise.

A birthday surprise party followed the regular work in the Kindergarten Friday, April 16. Little Miss Beverly Martin, five years old, surprised the other Kindergartners by bringing out candies, cake, and ice cream, and little toy snappers. The snappers were worn for caps while the children ate at their little tables.

The Kindergartners gathered about Little Beverly in a circle just before refreshments were served and sang their birthday song, and then all danced a number of the new folk-dances that they have learned from the Victrola music. Three of these are the "Kinderpolka," "Chimes of Dunkirk," and "Nigares-polska," a Swedish dance.

The room was decorated in butterflies, birds and tulips that the children made.

Campus Improvements.

Many improvements are being made on the Normal campus this spring. A Japanese Barberry hedge is to be set out beginning at the east side of the building and extending around the front to the southwest corner. Forest trees and annuals are being planted. The annuals will consist of cannas, zenias and other flowers.

A concrete walk is being laid from the east door of the Normal building around to the north side and to the athletic field.

A hedge of Black Hill Spruce is being set out at the President's residence and also a system of flower beds and arbors.

A teachers' patron meeting was held in Grant City, Saturday, April 17. Miss Hettie M. Anthony, head of the Home Economics Department and John E. Cameron of the Agriculture Department, were present.

Miss Gladys Criswell went to her home in Mound City, April 16, for a few days visit.

Miss Esther Brunner went to her home in St. Joseph Friday, April 16, to spend the week-end there.

A luncheon was given in honor of the visitors, Saturday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. Walter Hanson by Misses Brunner and Miller.

The "Philo" Breakfast.

The Philomathean Literary Society will give their annual breakfast Thursday morning, April 22, at the Normal Park, at 6:30 o'clock and of course they'll all be there on time. Perhaps the custom was established in order to have the members establish the habit of early rising.
